About us

Professional production and commercial experience

With the globalization of market and the economic integration. Food importation brings us more opportunities to develop our business. We are so willing to share our new healthy, natural product and French culinary experience to customers through our efforts.

Our products which are the French traditional and typical food are sold in local supermarkets and convenience stores in France. At the same time, we also focus on the development of organic foods as we are currently working with many restaurants. Therefore, we have a very rich experience in food industry.

In 2012, our international food expert team began to explore the global market and created the brand FRENCH DELICE with a new project: Distributing French products and healthy food to the entire world.

French Delice is specialized in traditional French cuisine and healthy Food. The company is supported by a young motivated team of engineers, nutritionists in order to select the best French products for you.
